Aloha colleagues,

On Thurs., May 13 I'll be flying to Midway Atoll National Wildlife Refuge to volunteer in wildlife management projects for 3 months. Additionally, I'll be involved in some kind of a small education project. In line with that effort, I'm going to experiment with using the social-networking-blog medium for educational outreach -- an "edu-blog" targeting a youth audience. If you, or anyone you know working with kids & the ocean environment this summer, would like to have a look at the blog, I've just launched it this website:

a hui hou,
Barb
